BOND REFUNDING DEAL CLOSED

The City of Antioch closed a major bond refunding deal Tuesday with a par value of $23,155,000, netting $7,397,309 in cash benefits for itself and other Contra Costa taxing entities through 2032, at which time the debt will have been paid in full. This includes savings to the City of $1,117,618 in debt service by refunding a loan that financed the Event Center at City-owned Lone Tree Golf Course and $627,969 more in property tax revenue due to reduced debt service on former Antioch Development Agency debt. The net annual benefit to City finances is $1,745,587 (over $100,000 annually).

The City's strong AA- credit rating and very low interest rates were keys to these significant saving. Standard and Poors was impressed by the City's consistent and conservative approach to budgeting and performance in staying within budget over the last several years.
